OUT ON THE LIMB

with George Vierhus

IN CASE YOU OVERlooked it, last Saturday supposedly had been declared a "Day to Honor Hunters."

We wouldn't have known about it had not we received a handout in the mail from "Friends of Animals, Inc.", a New York based organization.

As you might gather by the name, the organization is very anti-hunting in its outlook. By no means, was it supporting the "Day to Honor Hunters."

On the contrary.

The release reported that the special day had been enacted by Congress on a move initiated by hunters and that sporting clubs throughout the nation were holding festivals on that day.

In opposition, the "Friends of Animals, Inc." and its legislative arm, the "Committee for Humane Legislation", the handout reported, had started another movement called a "Hunt the Hunters Club."

Quite candidly we must admit that we were totally in the dark about either one of the sporting events.

We mean we didn't know that the hunters were either being honored and/or hunted.

FRANKLY WE HAVEN'T the slightest idea of whether or not the people from the "Friends of Animals" are serious in their program.

They suggest, for example, that a $10 hunter-license fee be paid to the Committee for Humane Legislation which will entitle the donor to a definitive anti-hunting magazine and "I DON'T HUNT" arm patch.

The group plans to ask Congress to ban hunting on public lands which it claims hunters turn into "private butcher shops" and they claim they intend to "free Mother Nature from the ecological havoc reeked by self-styled 'wild-life managers' who burn, bulldoze, flood, and cut national forests to make them hospitable to deer, ducks, hand-raised turkeys and pheasants at the expense of other wildlife and nature's balance."

Like we said, we are ignorant of the whole fuss.

We don't know how much of all this is tongue-in-the-cheek talk.

But we thought we would mention it mainly because of our total unfamiliarity with it.

It is a field of which we really have no first-hand knowledge, either as a hunter or as a hunter of hunters.

But there are many who are vitally concerned.

So good hunting.

WHEN A NEWS STORY of a social event that has appeared in The Campbell Press also makes its appearance in a newspaper clear across the continent, we think it is worthy of note.

That was the case in the account of the 40th wedding anniversary party of Dr. and Mrs. Wyland (Duke) Morgan.

Dr. Morgan has practiced dentistry in Campbell since 1932 and holds the honor of being the "senior" business or professional man with the longest continuous service in this community.

Both "Duke" and his wife, Evelyn, have taken an active interest in community affairs over the years and are rated as "old timers" here. One might say that Campbell is their "home town."

But it is also nice to see that Duke has not been forgotten in his original home town, Carbondale, Pa.

In "The Miner" of Carbondale, Pa., which indicates on its masthead "Your Lackawanna Valley Weekly Newspaper", the account of Dr. and Mrs. Wyland Morgan's 40th anniversary reception appeared in one of the recent issues.

To sort of tie it down from the local angle for Carbondale,

ON OLYMPIC WATER POLO TEAM

C. of C. honors athlete

Campbell's lone entry in the 20th Olympic Games held in Munich, Germany, Steve Barnett, of the U.S. Water Polo Team will be the speaker at the Chamber of Commerce noon luncheon meeting this Thursday, September 28, at Zorba's.

Barnett, who resides at 433 Queens Court with his wife, Elaine, and daughters, Sally Ann, 3, and Jenny Lee, eight months, is a Cupertino High School teacher. He was a member of the United States water polo team which collected a bronze medal in the Olympics.

Art Lambert, assistant coach of the Olympic team and who was head coach in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, will also be present. CofC members will be able to view slides of the 1972 Olympics and hear first-hand information of the "controversial" games, rated the most "extraordinary" in all history. Al LaPlante, president of the CofC, will preside at the luncheon. Reservations for the luncheon should be made with the CofC office (378-6252).

A resolution adopted by the City Council on Monday night commending Barnett, as a member of the bronze-medal winning water polo team in the Olympics, will be presented to him at the luncheon. Mayor Bill Podgorsek will make the presentation.

Three vehicles go on block Saturday in police auction

Three city-owned vehicles, two sedans and a pickup, will be included in the periodic police auction that takes place this Saturday, Sept. 30, at the city's corporation yard, 290 S. Dillon Ave.

In addition to the vehicles, 27 bikes will be on the block and more than 30 other items ranging from portable radios, fishing tackle, suitcases to the collected works of Sherlock Holmes will go to the highest bidder.

Capt. Larry Kelly, the auctioneer, will open the sale at 10 a.m.

Minimum bids will be required for the vehicles. The minimum bid for the 1968 Plymouth four-door sedan is $400; 1963 Plymouth four-door sedan, $300 and for the 1955 Chevrolet pickup truck, $150.

The articles that will be on the block (with the exception of the vehicles) have been recovered by the police and have been unclaimed by their original owners.

Included among the items that will be offered to the highest bidder will be an assortment of tools and tool boxes, tape decks, hydraulic jacks, flashlights, a sander and saw, tire and wheel and gas cans.

The cars that will be offered for sale are being replaced by new ones and are being auctioned off rather than used for trade-ins. The city has found that by auctioning the vehicles instead of trading them, the city gains financially.

All money from the sales will go into the city's general fund.

Hearing to air zoning changes

Campbell's new residential density standards allow for a population of only 57,289 as compared to 70,574 under the existing land use element in the city's present general plan.

That startling reduction in population estimates is part of the Planning Commission's report to the City Council on the city's general plan which will be publicly aired next Tuesday, Oct. 3.

At the public hearing on the Planning Commission's report, the City Council is expected to take the first official step that will bring the city's general plan into conformity with the zoning based on new density standards that have been considerably reduced.

The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers.

In developing the recommendations that have been submitted to the City Council, more than 15 public hearings were held by the Planning Commission over a period of months.

Recent state legislation requires consistency between a city's general plan and zoning by January 1, 1973; that was the basic reason that the study and recommendations were made by the Planning Commission.

During the 15 hearings that were held, planning officials discovered that there were three basic areas of concern: (1) reduction of densities; (2) the need to make the general plan more consistent with existing land use and zoning policies; and (3) changes in the plan which would reflect a more appropriate land use in light of current conditions and circumstances.

In order to obtain a better input from the citizens of the city, many of the hearings were held in neighborhood

Planners to act on restaurant

Plans for a new 150-seat restaurant to be located at 330 E. Hamilton (on the former Gomes Ranch property) will be before the Planning Commission next Monday, Oct. 2.

The restaurant will be on a 50,000 square foot parcel and will be one of the "Cocos" chain, an Orange County-based concern.

Up for approval also at the Planning Commission meeting will be a single-family subdivision tract map for the 14 acres of the former Amato property.

Plans for the subdivision have been submitted by Dura Style Homes, which is now constructing single-family homes on 17 acres of the property.

Previous efforts by the developer to gain approval of higher density units on the 14 acres have proved unsuccessful.

Monday's agenda will also include a number of items that have been continued from previous meetings.

HOSPITAL CASE

At press time on Tuesday, a secretary at the beleaguered Campbell Community Hospital, reported that the doctors now practicing at the hospital had scheduled a press conference and planned to issue a statement as to the current situation at the hospital.

Judge to rule on hospital

A decision is expected to be announced this Thursday by Superior Court Judge Marshall Hall in the law suit filed by Dr. Richard C. Rhodes, former chief of staff at Campbell Community Hospital against the new owners of the hospital.

Dr. Rhodes, on behalf of the former staff members whose services were terminated by the new owners, is seeking an injunction to compel the new owners to adhere to the established procedures at the hospital.

At the close of the hearings last week, it was reported that Judge Hall indicated that he would rule in favor of the "deposed" doctors.

In the meantime back at the hospital, it was reported that there was no change in the "terminal" status of the 23 nurses who had given their two week notices. The two week period expires this Friday.

The turmoil at the local hospital dates back to August when the alleged change in ownership took place and established procedures were changed.

Spokesmen for the doctors and nurses have claimed that the resulting "confusion" threatened the quality of patient care.

CHIEF DON BURR CHECKS IT OUT

LEAVES COUNTY SYSTEM

City dispatching begins on Oct. 1

Effective as of midnight this Saturday, September 30, the City of Campbell begins operating its own communication system on a 24-hour basis.

Starting Sunday, October 1, all vehicles in the police, fire and public works department will be dispatched by the city's own communication system in the city hall.

Since the city was incorporated in 1952, the dispatching of city vehicles (police, fire and public works) has been done through the county communications system on an annual contract basis.

Some years ago, the city purchased the equipment to operate its own system. The new city hall allowed for the necessary space for a communication center in the building.

However, the City of Campbell continued on a contract with the county communication services. But when the city was notified this year that the communication contract would be $65,994 for 12 months, it was determined that the city could more economically operate its own system.

Police Chief Don Burr, whose department will handle the dispatching, estimated that the city's cost this year for its own system will be $44,000.

Chief Burr pointed out also that the $44,000 budget included three months (July, August, September) under the county at $5000 per month.

Burr said that the county's contract had gone up from $16,778 in 1970-71 to $31,778 last year (1971-72). The city would pay $65,994 this year (1972-73), if the county contract was continued for 12 months.

The chief added that county officials had indicated that the contract of $65,994 would be increased to more than $90,000 the next year.

Faced with the accelerated costs for contracting for communication services with the county, the City Council at the close of the fiscal year on June 30, directed Burr to begin operating the city's system as soon as practicable. The October 1 deadline was then established.

To operate the city's system, Chief Burr said that three dispatchers were hired. Two present police department employees, Mrs. Helen Dreher,

Editorial

A major step

After 20 years of affiliation with the county communications system on a contract basis, the City of Campbell this next weekend (after midnight Saturday) launches its own dispatching on a 24-hour basis.

From now on vehicles of the police, fire and public works departments of the city will get their directions from the communications center in the police department of the city hall under the supervision of the police.

This is a major step for this city to take and it has been done only after much study and research and a comparison of costs of the county operation, as opposed to the city's own service.

The advent of the City of Campbell into the communication service emphasizes an interesting point in economics in the overall picture of county and city operations.

One complex question that is never satisfactorily answered in a situation of this nature is what basic services should a county department, financed by a general tax paid by all the citizens of the county, furnish citizens within a city.

To over-simplify the issue, we mean that the citizens living within the city limits of Campbell, or San Jose or Los Gatos or whatever, pay the same general county tax rate as those people living in unincorporated areas outside the city limits.

Therefore, it follows that the basic services furnished by the county department should be the same per capita throughout the county.

And should one area (a city or a special district) want more services than are offered on an overall basis, that area should be charged for those extra services.

Obviously working out a fair formula is almost an impossible task, although many attempts have been made.

For example, in the case of county communications, in the past, a cost formula of some sort was developed and the City of Campbell was charged each year for the services rendered by the county system.

Year by year the communication contract price increased. Part of this increase was, of course, attributable to the expanded services required by the City of Campbell.

But part of the increase developed from a county policy of attempting to put the various departments that furnish such services on a sort of cost accounting basis whereby the basic operation cost and income were supposedly put into balance.

Thus, if one department was operating at a loss, so to speak, and was receiving revenue from cities, etc., the department was directed to increase such revenues to eliminate the loss.

We concede that we are glossing over a complex situation and are not being entirely fair.

However, to carry it one step further. When it was found that the annual contract cost for communications for the city exceeded the city's estimate to run its own department, the city moved into this specialized field.

In all fairness, it should be pointed out that the city's budget this year for its operation did not include the purchase of the necessary equipment. The consoles and the other equipment that make up the system had been acquired before the new city hall was built and a communications center had been constructed.

Actually the city's communication budget basically included only the salaries for the operators.

But the operators' salaries total less than what the city would pay to the county for the extra services the contract calls for, so the city went into the business... and on a 24-hour basis.

We have long argued that there is a definite need to take a long, hard look at these city-county overlapping services. In our opinion, there is a crying need to modify the entire picture.

That in no way means, in our opinion, one gigantic county-cities conglomerate with one governing body.

We realize that it is unfair to use the communications system as a sole example to show that bigness or a combined operation does not always provide the answer for economy and efficiency.

But it does prove a point.

We contend that many of these gigantic governmental operations lose their efficiency by their very bigness. There seems to be a great deal of spinning of the wheels as the various bureaucratic chiefs get into the act to demonstrate their important functions. And the bigger the operation becomes, the more these "chiefs" are needed.

And we have observed one salient point that continually bugs us. The bigger the operation the more impersonal it becomes and the farther it is removed from the individual.

We admit that it does seem odd that the City of Campbell can operate its own communication system more economically than a so-called "going concern".

But that seems to be the case.

MORE ABOUT

it was noted in the story that Dr. Morgan was a graduate of Carbondale High School and in 1968 attended his 50th class reunion.

Let's see now, Duke has practiced in Campbell for 40 years and, if one takes out the time he spent in college and dental school, it would indicate, sort of off the top of our head, that the Morgans are not "fly-by-nights."

You might say their roots go down and stick.

SPEAKING OF ROOTS, this weekend will see a definite "yanking" of 'em in one specific area, when the City of Campbell begins operating its own communication center.

Since the city was incorporated 'way back in 1952, the communications of the city, i.e., dispatching of police cars and fire engines has been done by the county communications center under contract to the city.

Obviously, the disptaching of city vehicles, is a far more complicated maneuver now than it was in the first years of cityhood.

The city has had its own equipment ready to operate the dispatching for a number of years, due mainly to the foresight of former Police Chief John Morgan at whose suggestion the consoles etc. were purchased.

However, it was not until it was determined that the new contract with county communications would be more than it would cost the city to operate its own system that the City Council authorized the take-over that will occur at midnight this Saturday.

Those citizens who have had occasion to make emergency calls for fire or police after midnight in the past will recall that their calls did not go directly to the city, but were switched to county radio.

That will not be the case now.

UNDER THE CITY'S OPeration there will be 24 hour dispatching service from the city's system from the controls of the consoles in the police department.

Police Chief Don Burr has been an enthusiastic supporter for the city's own communication system. He is confident that it will be beneficial to the community.

Don, of course, was trained under former Chief Morgan and much of John's vision which has meant so much to this community has rubbed off on Don.

As you know, the police facilities at the city hall have been dedicated to John Morgan, who has been paralyzed since Feb. 1971, when he suffered a massive stroke.

MUCH OF THE DESIGN and planning for the police section was John's doing, including, of course, the communication center. And chief Burr has been instrumental in carrying them out.

So as the city enters this new era in communications, again we emphasize how fortunate it was for the City of Campbell to have had a man of John Morgan's caliber at the head of the police department for those 12 years when the growing pains of the city were so acute.

And how fortunate the city is also to have a guy like Don, trained by John, to step in. Don makes no bones about his respect, admiration and love for his former chief. He knows he owes John a great deal.

And that's why we touched upon it now. So we all won't forget.

We all owe John a lot.

ONE OBVIOUS FACTOR has made itself apparent during the internal hassle at Campbell Community Hospital.

It has indicated to us, at least, that most of us are totally unaware of the inner workings of any profession or business other than our own.

We mean that those of us who may be exposed to other fields of endeavor may have a general idea of what goes on in them, but we really know nothing about specific details.

And why should we?

We take for granted that the "professionals" know what they are doing. We may be slightly aware when things aren't going just right and we can draw some definite conclusions that may be either right or wrong.

But that is about as far as we can go.

So we must be dependent on those in the professions themselves to define any "sticky" internal situation that might exist.

One thing for sure, the situation at Campbell Community Hospital can certainly be described as "sticky".

There have been other descriptive terms applied, we might add.

Despite the fact that the Campbell Community Hospital is a private enterprise, the word "community" in its name seems to us, has an implied connotation of local concern to all of us for its well being.

And it is our contention, that we should be concerned.

Taxicab permit, car wash lose before City Council

By a unanimous vote on Monday night, the City Council denied the request of Alan Bloomquist for a taxicab permit within the city limits and by a 3-2 vote denied a request by Shell Oil to convert one service bay into a car wash at 771 W. Hamilton.

The taxicab request had been before the Council on July 24 and was continued to allow the city staff to research the matter. In the meantime similar application in Santa Clara had been denied which would reduce the number of cabs available.

Bloomquist was not present.

In the Shell Oil case, the Planning Commission had previously denied the car wash bay for the service station.

Guy Yates, representing Shell, said that a neighborhood type of car wash was proposed. It would be a "drip dry" operation of about three minutes duration. He said that the merchants in the shopping center favored it and Howard Farrell, the new operator of the station submitted a petition with 259 names of people in the area favoring the conversion.

APPEAL

The Council sent back to the Planning Commission the appeal of Carl McGee of a Planning Commission ruling with respect to the conversion of a residence at 42 W. Campbell into an office.

The Planning Commission had granted the use permit with the condition that four other buildings on the property would have to be removed. After McGee, of 1320 Theresa Ave., reported that he had altered his original request, the Council directed the matter to go back to the Commission.

Becky Campos, chairman of the Youth Advisory Commission, appeared before the Council to report on the proposed ordinance that would change the set-up of the commission. The ordinance had been suggested by Councilman Rusty Hammer, a former youth commissioner, in order to make the commission more effective.

One of the changes would reduce the commission to seven members.

In the discussion that developed, it was agreed not to specify "Campbell High" or "West Valley College" by name in the ordinance. The changes will be incorporated in the proposed ordinance and submitted at the next meeting of the Council.

Appearing before the City Council also was Neil Christie, representing the San Jose Youth Commission. At his request, the Council approved two resolutions emphasizing youth participation that will be forwarded to the League of California Cities convention.

The Council also decided in another youth matter, to call a meeting for October 30 at 7:30 p.m. to which representatives from all the youth groups in the area will be invited to discuss problems and to find means to encourage participation by the youth in the city activities.

There are only four youth commissioners at the present time, it was noted.

OTHER ACTIONS

In other actions, the Council approved specifications and called for bids for a sedan for the public works department and approved the work experience program in conjunction with the high school that will utilize a high school student as part-time help in the planning department. The total cost to the city would be $1,470 for the fiscal year.

The Council also endorsed Measure A on the November 7 ballot, which calls for an advisory vote of the electorate on a sports arena for the county.

Because the report of the public works department was still incomplete, the Council deferred until the next meeting any action on stop signs that had been requested for Grant Street at First and Second by residents in the area.

It was reported by City Manager Bob Stephens that the long awaited amendments to library agreement with the county had been agreed upon and the modified agreement was now in the process of being typed prior to submission to the supervisors and council.

schools of the areas that were under discussion.

DENSITIES CUT

Action by the City Council has already been taken in the reduction of the overall density standards of the city based on a prior report of the Planning Commission.

As an example of the need for consistency between the general plan and zoning, the report to the City Council cites the area now occupied by the third screen of Winchester Drive-In Theater. That area is now zoned for high density residential. It has been recommended that it be changed to industrial which permits such uses.

The Commission report also cites two examples where a more appropriate land use than that now specified in the plan should be used.

The West Valley College site is shown now for commercial use. On the modified plan its present use would be shown.

The Sunsweet property, which is now in the process of being developed into a commercial operation, would also be changed from its present industrial zoning to commercial on the general plan.

COMPREHENSIVE

The comprehensive recommendation that has been submitted to the City Council also includes a table that shows the existing land use and the proposed land use within the City of Campbell for low, low-medium, medium and high residential densities.

The chart shows that 2017 acres are included in the residential breakdown and the proposed land use plan for low density (less than six per acre) would include 1438 acres. Under the existing plan there are 1396 acres.

For the balance of the residential acreage, low medium density would be reduced from 229 to 193; medium increased from 183 to 194 and high reduced from 209 to 192.

POPULATION DOWN

Under the new density standards, only 4,032 living units would be specified for high (209 per acre) as compared to 5,752 under the old standards.

Thus the overall application of the new density standards for the specified acreage would reduce the population estimate by more than 13,000.

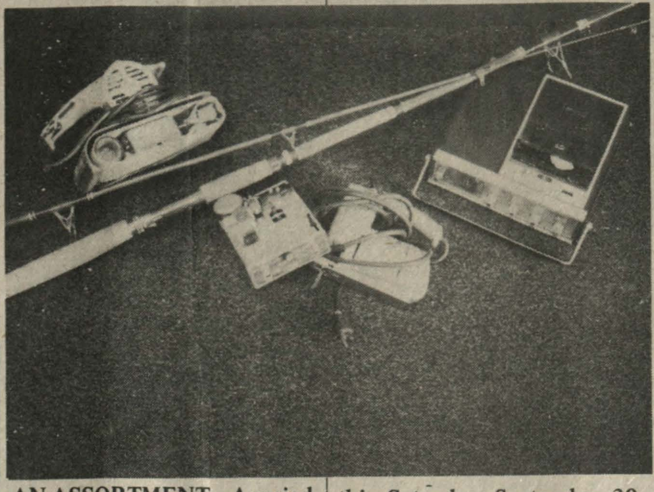
The report to the City Council breaks down the city into 26 different areas that are shown by individual maps. The present zoning is indicated as well as the existing use and what is proposed in the new plan. Explanatory details are also listed.

Although the entire city is encompassed in the recommendation, city officials indicated that only in a relatively few areas do they expect the recommendations to develop into lengthy discussions.

BEE STINGS

Honeybees sting only once and die but other members of the bee family, hornets, wasps, etc., and ants can sting repeatedly.

BIKES FOR SALE --- There will be 27 bicycles sold at the periodic police auction this Saturday, September 30, at the corporation yard on S. Dillon. Sale starts at 10 a.m.



AN ASSORTMENT---A varied list of items, including fishing equipment and radios, will go on the police auction block this Saturday, September 30, at the city's corporation yard on S. Dillon Avenue. Sale starts at 10 a.m.

For emergency calls, the number to call is 378-8161. During the day the city hall number (378-8141) or the business number (378-1211) can also be used.

First of all I would like to extend a welcome to Hal Sonntag, new principal at Del Mar. Sonntag, who was principal at Blackford last year, has replaced George Miskulin. Miskulin was transferred and is now principal at Leigh.

Also welcome are the rest of the new administration, faculty members, freshmen, and of course all the old faces from last year!!!

On September 22nd Del Mar held their first rally of the year. All of the Spirit Commission put on a great rally and showed us their new cheer, "GOOD LUCK."

The girls introduced themselves and then introduced the frosh-soph and varsity football teams, cross country, and the "C" and "D" basketball teams.

KICK-OFF DANCE

Del Mar's first dance of the year, the "Kick-off" dance, was held on Friday, Sept. 15. The dance was in the cafetorium from 8-11 p.m. with the band, Road Show, supplying the music.

During the dance the "Kick-off Queen" was crowned. Senior head song girl, Debi Crawford, won the title. She was selected by the student body from a ballot which also contained the names of the other song girls and cheerleaders. Debi was crowned by varsity football captain, Randy Metzler.

DONS SPORTS

Both Del Mar's frosh-soph and varsity football teams started out this season playing non-league encounters against Lincoln. The big Dons came out on the short end of a 28-0 score while the little Dons lost a hotly contested game by a close margin of 18-12.

The next Varsity football game will be played against Westmont's Warriors at Westmont on Friday, Sept. 29 at 3:30 p.m. The frosh-soph game will also be against Westmont but it will be played at Del Mar bowl on Thursday, Sept. 28 at 3:30 p.m.

According to Dick Kimery of Pioneer District of the Boy Scouts of America, Thursday has been designated as "School Night for Cubbing" and plans have been made for every youngster interested in participating in Boy Scout work to be able to attend a meeting at their local school to find out more about the program.

Campbell area leaders include C.E. "Red" Livingston, Campbell Elementary Schools area coordinator; Hans Witch, Cambrian Schools coordinator; Bob Dietz, Moreland Schools coordinator; Tom Gardener, Union Schools coordinator, and Ralph Storti, parochial schools coordinator.

The overall chairman for the schools night is Al Daily.

OPEN HOUSE

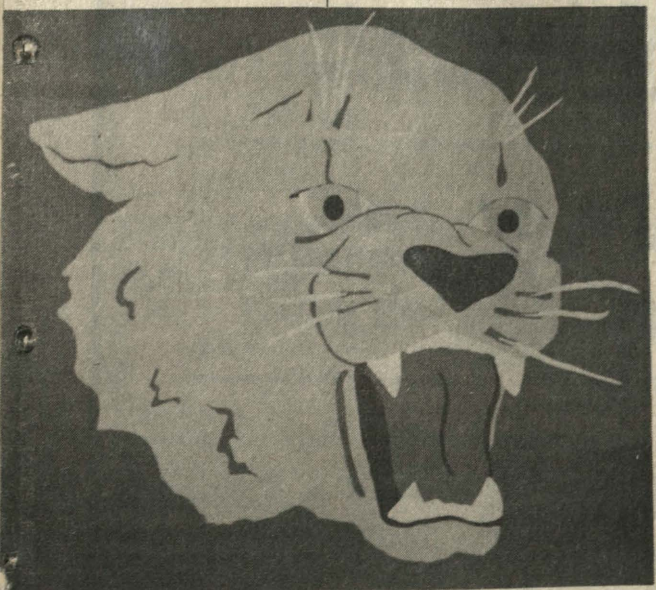
Camden Corners

by Mike Lindsey



THIS IS XAVIER COUGAR

Camden High has a new registration system, one quite similar to that of San Jose State. Camden students get to select what classes they will take, what period they will take them and what teacher they will have.

It is intended to bring the human touch back to scheduling previously done by computers. The new registration should lessen program changes and take the load off the counselors while making the students happier.

CAMDEN SPORTS

The Cougars varsity football team suffered a setback in their season opener. They look forward to a great season and perhaps a league championship. The frosh-soph teams were victorious in their opener and have great plans for the coming season.

The C and D basketball teams and the cross country teams have yet to start their season, but are looking forward to a good year.

MASCOT ON THE WALL

Camden's mascot, Xavier Cougar, has taken his appropriate place in the Camden Gym. Xavier's portrait is now painted on the wall. Through the efforts of Paul Chaplin, planner and designer of Xavier, and Carol Sliter, who drew Xavier on the wall and several other students and faculty members, the Cougar mascot has come to life to reign over our spirit.

CAMDEN ACTIVITIES

Now that school is under way, Camden will be starting with the fall activities. The back to school dance, Friday, Sept. 22 started the year's program. The clubs are also starting their Autumn programs with the bowling club and the chess club being the first to begin.

Campbell High School Boosters launch fall membership drive

Campbell High School Booster's Club will meet Wednesday, October 4, in the choir room at Campbell High School. Parents of high school students are invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. meeting when Bill Branson, drum major for the school's marching band, will tell of his experiences at drum major school last summer. Branson's participation in the program was aided by the Booster's Club.

Last year the Booster's spent approximately $1000 on extra curricular items for the school, such as baseball bats, football films, snack shacks, band picnics and team picnics, according to Dale Hume, president.

All monies have come from donations by merchants, parents and interested citizens. The club will be offering decals for sale in the near future and launching their fall membership drive.

Nominations for new officers were made at a recent meeting. They are: president, Lou Ferrari; vice-president, George Baker; treasurer, Marian Cannady and secretary, Doris Bertran. Al and Wanda Davis are membership chairmen.

MUSIC PROGRAM

Music students from Monroe School, Castro Junior High, along with students from Campbell High, and Prospect High, are participating in the music education benefit program for the National Music and HiFi Expo '72 in conjunction with the California Music Educators Association (CMEA) at San Francisco's Cow Palace, Oct. 6–8.

TUTOR BANK

Campbell Elementary Teachers Association has formed a tutor bank, according to a spokesman for the CETA. The tutor bank was formed as a result of planning sessions of leaders of the CETA to provide better service to the members, children and community.

The CETA Tutor Bank will provide a continual list of names of qualified persons who will be available for referral as tutors.

County health department lists anti-rabies clinics

Stamps honor wildlife

A new series of wildlife conservation commemorative stamps are now on sale at the Campbell post office, according to Postmaster Bill Jennings.

The series, in eight-cent denomination for first class mail, includes four separate stamps on each sheet, with views of bighorn sheep, a cardinal bird, fur seals and brown pelicans.

The stamps, designed by Stanley Galli, are in full color, jumbo size (one inch by nearly two inches) and are horizontal. They continue the highly popular modern series on wildlife conservation that began in 1968.

Carol carried a bouquet of white carnations, rosebuds and baby's breath. Her attendants held bouquets of carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, Teal V. Payne, the Campbell High School graduate carried a daisy cascade bouquet. She was attended by her sister, Cheryl, in the evening ceremony. Bridesmaids were Linda Krejci and Carol Stewart. All three attendants were gowned in apple green.

Her mother, Mrs. Teal V. Payne, wore a floor length powder blue ensemble with matching accessories, while Mrs. Bradford Gallup, Sr., of Mattawan, Michigan, mother of the groom, selected a long gown of pale yellow for the event.

The new Mrs. Gallup attended West Valley College and is currently employed as an executive secretary at General Electric.

The next day, St. Lucy's Youth Council went to Uvas Meadows for two nights and three days. There was swimming, football and baseball games and other contact sports. On the fourth of July the members of St. Lucy's Youth Council sponsored a square dance which was accompanied with laughter and energetic people. Then, we went to Sunset for a day and roasted hot dogs.

On the 25, 26 and 27 of August we camped at Pinecrest and met a lot of friends and interesting people. The Dutch East India Co. played at a dance for us which was very successful and entertaining.

The members held a car wash which helped raise funds for the barbecue we're building for St. Lucy's Church. On Tuesday, Oct. 17 the council will assist in the Silver Jubilee of St. Lucy's Church by hosting a barbecue dinner at which time the barbecue we are building will be dedicated to the parish.

The Care Committee of St. Lucy's Youth Council is sponsoring a retreat at SugarPine on October 27, 28 and 29. Father Leger will be our retreat leader. The Care Committee is also scheduling a guest speaker to discuss the law—and responsibility— of the 18 year olds in November.

The St. Lucy's Youth Council extends its invitation for all high school age people and up to join us in our activities anytime.

Beauty pageant features gala PruneYard festival

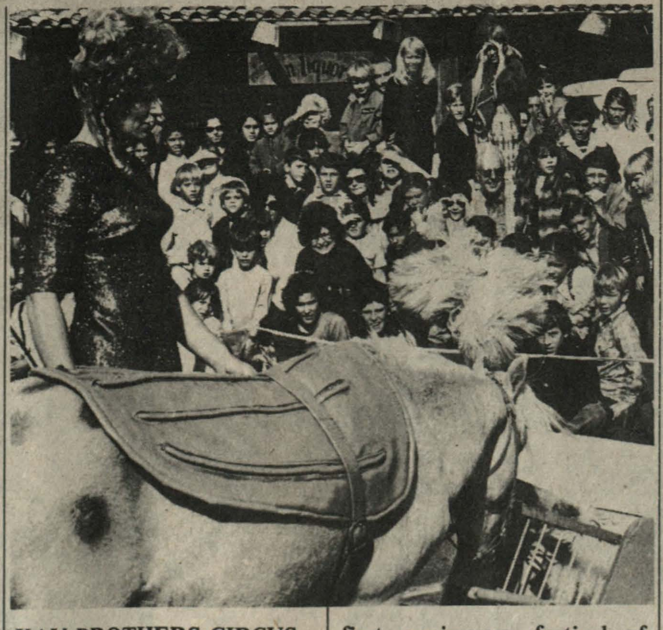
From Oct. 5–8, Campbell's famous PruneYard will present its first anniversary festival and in conjunction will stage its second annual Miss PruneYard beauty pageant.

Entries for the beauty pageant will close this Friday, Sept. 29 and girls are urged to send in their entry blanks and photographs at once.

They must be postmarked no later than midnight Thursday . An entry blank appears on this page.

The beauty pageant is just one of the highlights of the first annual anniversary festival over which the queen and her princesses will reign. The royal court will be crowned on Sunday, Oct. 8 between 8 and 8:30 p.m.

There will be a grand prize drawing at 9:30 p.m. on Oct. 8 and during the four-day festival, many of the Bay Area's top professional entertainers will be performing in the Gran Plaza, stores, gardens and walkways throughout the entire PruneYard from noon until 10 p.m. daily. All entertainment is free.



KAY BROTHERS CIRCUS--- A world-famed mini circus with trained dogs, trick pony and "Lani", a champion girl roper, and "Trixie", the clown, will perform at the first anniversary festival of the PruneYard (Oct. 5–8). The circus is geared for the youngsters and there will be daily performances at the PruneYard.

BALLOON EXCELSIOR--- Hot air balloon rides for the entire family will be available at the PruneYard during the four day festival marking the first anniversary of Campbell's famous shopping center (Oct. 5–8). Tickets will be on sale at the PruneYard for all those who want to take advantage of this novel experience of floating through the air.

College presidents urge passage of Proposition 1

Superintendents from Foothill, San Jose and West Valley community college districts revealed Friday the cooperative effort being made by the three districts for passage of Proposition 1 on the November 7 ballot.

The measure is a $160 million bond issue for statewide community college construction. If passed (by a simple majority) the state money would be matched by community college district dollars.

Mrs. Mary Lou Zoglin, chairman of the citizens committee urging passage of the measure, joined Supts. John Dunn, Otto Roemmich and James Hardy in declaring the bond money is critical to the building of new classrooms at two-year community colleges. She explained that nearly 90 per cent of California's freshmen students are enrolled at community colleges.

In Santa Clara County alone enrollment has increased from only 10,000 students in 1960 to more than 50,000 students in 1972.

More than $22 million in construction projects will be generated in Santa Clara County alone if the measure passes. San Jose and West Valley college districts will benefit directly from its passage.

San Jose will receive $4.8 million in state matching money to be used for Phase I of San Jose's Evergreen campus, located at San Felipe and Yerba Buena. West Valley will receive $5.6 million in state funds to complete the Saratoga campus and begin planning and initial construction at the Mission campus, located north of Bayshore Freeway at Coffin Road in Santa Clara.

All factions of the colleges, including students, lay citizens, teachers, staff members and the administration are working towards passage of the bond.

State matching funds for the projects will come from existing state taxes including sales, banks, corporations, insurance, inheritance, gifts, cigarettes, alcoholic beverages, personal income and horse racing.

Both San Jose and West-Valley are currently operating under overcrowded conditions, reiterated Mrs. Zoglin. Money from the bond issue will alleviate this problem by initiating construction for needed projects at both colleges - projects which have already been approved by the Coordinating Council on Higher Education and the State Department of Finance, she stated.

Bergna to advise on law films

Louis P. Bergna, Santa Clara County District Attorney, has been appointed by the National District Attorneys Association (NDA) to the advisory committee on law enforcement films produced by the National Education Institute.

Financed by a Federal grant of $102,405.00 from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the films will be aimed at educating youth to the pitfalls and temptations which lead to criminal conduct, according to Bergna.

Availability of the films when released will be for teachers' guides, service clubs and other media. Screening of the scripts by the NDA committee, will insure accuracy in every detail.

"These films will be educational rather than the thriller type seen in movies and TV and will attempt to avoid any semblance of threat to the viewer," said Bergna.

West Valley Sports

by Dick Sparrer

BOOTERS UNBEATEN

"We could still be there when it's all over," said an optimistic Dick Schwendinger last week after his West Valley College soccermen dumped the San Jose State junior varsity 3-0 on the loser's field.

But the Vikings have their work cut out for them this week as they continue Camino Norte Conference play. Before beating San Jose on Saturday, WVC had knocked off two league foes the prior week and hold a 2-0 CNC record. The Vikes beat Alameda 12-0 and Marin 3-1.

West Valley meets league favorite Canada at home on Tuesday and then travels to Skyline for a game on Friday. Both are set for 3 p.m. starts.

GRIDDERS FAIL

"We just have to play emotional football against Ventura," said a disappointed John Nicholas after the West Valley Vikings were upset by a spirited San Jose City College 11 36-14.

And the Ventura gridders will provide a big obstacle for Valley if they hope to get back on the winning track.

"They have an extra quick team, all of their ball carriers are capable of breaking one all the way anytime they touch the ball," assessed the coach. "They have the same quarterback they did last year. As a matter of fact, they have returners at all of their skill positions. One of their coaches told me that if they get the good blocking up front, they will have a fine football team."

The Vikes looked like anything but the team of old last Saturday night. San Jose running backs were bursting for gains of four and five yards at a crack while the WVC offensive lines were turning in less than adequate jobs.

POLOISTS TOP CHABOT

There's only one game on tap for the West Valley College water-polo team this week as they visit San Joaquin Delta Friday. But, oh what a slate faces West Valley next week!

The Vikes play six games in four days, all in their home pool in Saratoga. Tuesday the Vikes host Wyoming University at 8 p.m. They come back Wednesday against Brigham Young University at 3:30 p.m. and battle Texas A & M Thursday at 3:30 p.m.

On Friday West Valley will open play in the Northern California tournament which they are co-hosting with DeAnza and Foothill. At 9 a.m. that day they meet the Air Force Academy, at 1 p.m. Diablo Valley College and at 4 p.m. the San Jose State University junior varsity. Whew!!

In their last tourney outing, things didn't go real well for the Vikes. They won their opener last weekend at the Cabrillo tourney in sudden death over Delta. But in their second encounter they were crushed by Foothill 11-1 and knocked out of play 10-9 by host Cabrillo.

SCORING --- Fullbacks don't generally get much of a chance to score in a soccer game. But Scott Sexton, a graduate of Campbell High made one for West Valley College last week as they won 12-0 over Alameda. The Vikes will be back in action Tuesday when they play host to Canada at 3 p.m. on their Saratoga field. Friday they visit Skyline and Saturday hit the road to meet Fresno Pacific. The following Tuesday they host rival DeAnza at 3 p.m.

OPPOSES "14"

The Santa Clara County Board of Education has taken a strong position, opposing the Watson Amendment. The Board took this action on September 20 and urged local boards of education to take similar action.

REALLY SERIOUS---Catcher Norm Scott of the Rotarians and Don Burr, chief of police and Kiwanis member, look like Burr's turn at bat may be the turning point of the game with their solemn expressions.

The game ended in favor of the Rotary in the Oak Meadow Park conflict.

Bass boat is fisher's dream

Once upon a time, a fisherman's pride and joy was his tackle box. Now if he is a true bass fisherman, it's his boat that counts.

A $5,000 high horsepower customized "bass boat" is the thing that most true bass fishermen want according to Wayne Austin, manager of Campbell Marine at Hamilton Avenue and Winchester Blvd.

In truth it's not just the bass fisherman who likes the high powered, well-equipped water tiger.

Other types of fishermen like the fully-equipped console, up-front remote seat stick steering and swivel seats.

Many of the boats have storage compartments below the gunwales for rods and have winch controlled anchors at each end. Some of the boats come with depth sonar and it's possible to get radios, stereo tape systems, wall-to-wall carpeting and battery operated fans to fight the heat.

Longtime fishermen have proclaimed the boats as some of the best fishing machines ever devised. According to one enthusiast, "It's efficient, safe, fast and comfortable."

The bass boat is rapidly becoming one of the all-time favorite fishing boats. Equipped with a big outboard, these boats speed you out to the bass holes where the big lunkers are hiding.

Collegiate seeks participants for local flag football team

A former Campbell High School student is interested in forming a local flag football

Tim McGuire, 3720 Century Dr., who graduated from CHS in 1969, is asking high school graduates who'd be interested in forming a team to meet with him on Sunday, October 1 at 1:30 p.m. in the West Valley College parking lot directly across from the high school on Campbell Ave.

McGuire, who is currently attending San Jose State College, played football in his freshman year of college in Washington, but was knocked out by an accident and is anxious to get back into action.

Other recent high school graduates who are not attending school or who were unable to participate in the game at college are urged to attend.

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

The "Campbell Flash," Howard Kaeding had only a slight lead for the state NASCAR Super Modified Championship going into last Saturday night's races at the San Jose Speedway. When the dust settled, Kaeding had lengthened his lead over Everett Edlund and closed the gap on Nick Rescino for the San Jose title.

Rescino had fast qualifying time but Kaeding was second fastest. Kaeding took his heat race and won the feature with Rescino finishing in fourth place. Edlund didn't seem to have the power all evening, finishing ninth in the feature.

CAVALCADE OF AUTO RACING

Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. the San Jose Speedway will play host to some of the top racing equipment and drivers of Northern California. There will be four 100 lap main events, one for each of four different types of racing available in the area. The NASCAR Super-Modifieds will have the regular Saturday nights contingent of Howard Kaeding, Nick, Rescino, Bill Scott, Jack and Don Epperson, John Brazil, Everett Edlund, Ted Witt, Terry Chalker, Dewayne Woodward and many others.

While George Benson won't be racing in the BCRA Midgets, the Campbell car builder expects to have ten Benson-built cars in the 20 car field. Top drivers in Benson cars are Burt Foland, Bob Morrow, Hank Butcher, Danny O'Neil and Bob DeYoung. Other top drivers in the field are Jim Clennan, Rick Davidson, Terry Caves and Dee Hileman.

The dirt track cars of the Northern Auto Racing Club will try their hand at the high banked oval for 100 laps featuring top drivers Lem Tolliver, Jerry Cecil, Jimmy Boyd, Mike McCreary, George Rogge Dave Bowling and Ken Grandy.

The final 100 lapper will feature the NASCAR Sportsman Division which races at Watsonville, Merced, Antioch and Petaluma. Names you will see in this group are Bill Brown, Vic Irvan, Gene Dothage, Dick Rauser and Al Balding amongst others.

Gates will open at San Jose Speedway at 11 a.m. with warm-ups starting at noon. The first race will be at 2 p.m. This combination of races makes for a very interesting afternoon.

DART SEASON OPENS

Tonight is the first match of the Fall-Winter Season of the Northern California Darts Assn. Many new pubs or new names have been added to the list as a result of the un-official summer league. Three teams will play out of the Or Whatever at 1781 Winchester Blvd. The Or Whatever is the old Black Knight, a very active dart house a couple of seasons back.

Two Campbell pubs that got started because of the Summer League are the Iron Apple, which will field two teams this season and the Garret in the PruneYard.

A new name from Los Gatos is Mesa's. This is the old Club Gato which had a very successful season when they started to play two seasons ago. A brand new team they finished first in their division.

San Jose also came up with a couple of new pubs with the Diamond Wheel and the Neighborhood Tavern fielding teams. Not to be out-done Sunnyvale added Ann's Fish and Chips.

Enough teams were added in the South Bay to field two full leagues of two divisions each. The farthest travel for any team from this area is a trip to Sunnyvale. In all there are over 80 teams in the NCDA this year. Darts keep expanding as are many other sports.

FUN OUTSIDE---There's nothing like a little climb...the playhouse in the yard at the Head Start Center is better than some...because you can even go up on the roof and look around.

Head Start is 'way ahead

Volunteer participation is a lot of the reason that the Head Start Center, located on Rincon Avenue in Campbell is so successful.

The program is just starting a new year and volunteer coordinator Mrs. Jewel Traina, who has spent five years in the head start program, says its doing fine.

Not that the center isn't in need of more help. "We can always use volunteers," says Mrs. Traina.

A new director is in charge of the school this year. Mary Lou Sedillos, a soft spoken young woman, obviously enjoys her work with the daily program, which can offer a maximum of 21 children a place to get an early start on education from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day.

Some of the program's volunteers have worked at the local center for four straight years and one lady, a "grandmother" comes several times weekly. A young man is going to participate in the program by driving some of the children to school and giving the youngsters a little change from their female company.

Assisting Mrs. Sedillos on a daily basis are Rocky Harlow, teacher's aide, and Shirley Parker, cook. (The children are given a hot lunch each noonday.) Volunteers include Beverly Otter, Marilyn Seagrave, Kay Sanders, Jenny Levin, Helen Moore, Mary Hernandez and Audrey De Amechi.

NEW CLOTHES---A student at the Campbell Head Start Center tries on one of the many dressup outfits which the youngsters play with in their daily activities.

Many parents are participating in the program this year by spending time at the school, allowing the director to help them with their individual problems with their children.

There is still room for more volunteers," said Mrs. Traina, "but we have certainly come a long way." She pointed proudly to the newly refurbished playhouse area in the school's facilities in the annex of St. Lawrence Episcopal Church. Much work still needs to be done at the school. The playyard fence is in need of repair and so does some of the equipment.

Persons interested in offering their time should contact the Head Start office in San Jose.

CRAFT TIME---Waiting for material, these Head Start youngsters have an opportunity each day to work with paste, paper, crayons and other craft items.

Bringing up fido

By Sally Howe

What early training is important to a puppy?

This is a subject about which much has been written, in this column and elsewhere.

What is equally important is the list of things NOT to do to him. And ways to build up his self-confidence.

Frightening a puppy is a frequent mistake. A test of temperament is not dumping the puppy into a room of excited children, but the careful introduction of him into a setting with instructions to those who are about to receive him.

A puppy tires easily. Putting a tired puppy into a lively crowd is a good way to create a problem.

An active little four-legged baby can be tearing around the house or yard one minute and be sleeping soundly a few seconds later.

Most puppies exhibit signs of loneliness their first night away from the warmth and comfort of brothers and sisters. If you feel that you wouldn't mind sharing your bed with a dog for the rest of your life, then invite him up. If you think that you are only doing it "for a little while" you may have a surprise coming.

Give a puppy confidence by taking him out in the dark and staying close by his side, by holding him when he meets new playmates (cats, puppies and kids), and by calmly reassuring him with your voice whenever he finds a confusing setting.

Don't screech at him if he gets into something or you may have a dog who for the rest of his life hides when you raise your voice.

And for common sense sake, don't use a newspaper to discipline him. If you stop and think how many times you pick up a paper: to read; to put down on the floor on a rainy day; to line the garbage can or just to move from a chair to the coffee table, then you'll realize that this is not the proper "weapon" to use on your dog. Personally, I have seldom had to physically punish a dog...a verbal scolding is usually sufficient. However, my hands are all I use and never threateningly (such as waving arms, or fist at him). If he gets paddled, he gets paddled and if I have to slap his face (to make him drop something) it's a single action--not a nagging one.

I have mixed emotions about pointing fingers at pups. If it's not overdone, it's great, but too many people point their finger at the puppy on every single occasion.

I think "no" gets overdone. To me, "no" is a punishment word. It means stop it right now. "Afghh" and "phooey" and expressions of disgust are far better when the dog gets into something distasteful.

I think some people are so hung up on "discipline" of a dog that they forget love. Others are so afraid that they'll harm his "pysche" that they forget discipline.

Try common sense.
Works wonders.
